MISS DULLES RUSS TARGET

Secretary's Sister Called Spy
Official By Red Paper

By HOWARD NORTON

Moscow Bureau of The Sun

Moscow, Feb. 11—A new name was added to the roll of capitalistic villainy here today—a name that is a natural for the part in Soviet eyes, Eleanora Dulles, sister of the Secretary of State.

The newspaper Trud works up quite a lather about the sinister activities of Miss Dulles, a State Department employé, currently stationed in Berlin.

Pointing out significantly that her second brother, Allen Dulles, is head of the Central Intelligence Agency, Trud states flatly that Miss Dulles's mission is to "organize and finance new acts of sabotage" against East Germany.

Job Called A Cover-Up

Crediting this bit of information to the East German newspaper Neues Deutschland, the Soviet journal charges that Miss Dulles's connection with the State Department is only a cover-up for her real activity which it says is inspector of "spy services."

In her current "inspection" tour, Trud declares, Miss Dulles's primary aim is to stir up "new gangster acts against the German workers."

This whole plot, according to the official organ of Soviet trade unions, is designed to "bring back the capitalists and landlords" to Germany.

"There are some men in America, who, ignoring the spirit of the time, cherish the idea of a crusade against the peoples democracies," Trud asserts.

"But these men should remember," it exhorts, "that there is to be no return to the old order. And no matter how many millions of dollars they spend on sabotage, their efforts will fail."
